How to Create a Local Account While Setting Up Windows 10

Windows 10 tries its hardest to make you use a Microsoft account. The option was already hidden, but now it's not even offered on Windows 10 Home while you're connected to the internet. Here's how to create a local account anyway.

How to Find and Use Google's Brand-New Privacy Tools

Google recently announced a few new features that give users more control over their data, including three new privacy options for Google Maps, YouTube, and Google Assistant, as well as a new tool for monitoring password security. Here's a quick rundown of each of the new features, how to find them, and why you may want to try them out.

How to Automatically Delete Your YouTube History

Google now offers a tool that automatically deletes your search and activity history from YouTube. By default, your data is stored forever, but it can be wiped from Google's servers every 3 or 18 months.

Similar auto-delete settings are available for your location history as well as your "Web & app history." These aren't just privacy settings—choosing to wipe your history regularly means Google won't use that wiped YouTube history to personalize your video recommendations.

What Is "Mixed Content," and Why Is Chrome Blocking It?

What Is Mixed Content?
There are two types of content here: Content delivered over a secure, encrypted HTTPS connection, and content delivered over an unencrypted HTTP connection. When you use HTTPS, content can't be snooped on or tampered with in transit, which is why it's critical websites offer encryption when dealing with financial information or private data.

How to Manage Multiple Mailboxes in Outlook

A significant advantage of using Outlook on your computer is you can have multiple email accounts in one place. Here's how you can manage everything successfully.

If you've only used Outlook at work, you might not realize it can handle multiple accounts from multiple providers, including Microsoft, Gmail, Yahoo!, and pretty much any others you can think of.

If you want to add email accounts to Outlook, we walk you through the process here. After you have all your accounts set up, you can manage all of them in Outlook. Let's take a look at how you do this.

Google Photos - Ron Brown, APCUG VTC 11/4/17

it's FREE. It's like a shoebox full of photos but you can easily find a specific photo. Since we now take most of our photos with our phone, it's designed for mobile first but can also be used with our computer. It's easy-to-use, with unlimited storage.
• Do you need a backup strategy?
• How to sync them?
• Who can see my photos?
• How do they get archived after death?
All these topics and more are covered in Ron's presentation -- as well as a hands-on demo.

This computer wants to know if I want some wine. It cannot find the file I am searching for.

LibreOffice Hands-On Demo & Presentation - John Kennedy, APCUG VTC 11/4/17

Free software - it's all about sharing. John takes us on a hands-on tour of the different sub-programs LibreOffice has and hopefully you discover a free program that has all the features you need in a productivity suite. LibreOffice. This software has all the components (and a couple of extras) that another major software company has that is widely used in business.

6 Essential Tips for Safe Online Shopping

A Facebook Bug Exposed Photos for Nearly 7 Million Users

Facebook announced this morning a bug in its Photo API system that potentially exposed photos to third-party app developers—even if you didn't post the picture. The bug existed from September 13th thru the 25th.

The nuts and bolts are pretty simple here. Facebook offers APIs to app developers to allow them to build additional tools using Facebook as a foundation. One such tool involves the Photos API, which lets developers request access to users' photos to provide a variety of utilities. When users grant access to their photos, however, it's generally restricted to timeline photos.

How to Research a Topic Online

Online research is a crucial skill, whether you're working on an academic paper, writing a blog post, or just trying to learn something new about your houseplants. But it's not always easy when you're tackling a complicated or niche topic.

Scoring a deal on a TV this Cyber Monday seems sensible if your hobbies don't include being crushed by mobs or fighting for parking at 6 a.m., but buyer beware. If you're not following safe online shopping practices, a scammer could get your credit card number faster than you can say "identity theft."

Hackers know that many people are buying on websites, and it's likely why hacking spikes this time of year. Thankfully, these safe online shopping features from Firefox are easy to use all year round

Microsoft's Windows OS isn't any one thing; it's an interwoven patchwork of features built atop other features that trace all the way back to the beginning of the time-tested operating system. Each individual feature is, in turn, the result of a team of dedicated engineers who create the best (often customizable) experience possible.

Watch "Clean Up Windows 10 and Make Your PC Faster" on YouTube

How to Clean Up Your Drive in Windows 10? I wanted to make a video showing you how to clean up windows 10. Over time, Windows 10 can get sluggish with temporary internet files and other junk files. You may also have other junk files like unused programs and general bloatware which comes pre-installed in Windows 10. We will use Windows 10's New "Free Up Space" Tool to Clean Up the operating system, you can still use Disk Cleanup, which has been around for ever, but the new Storage sense feature makes life a lot easier when cleaning out junk files. Do NOT use registry cleaners, these can mess up the computer operating system.
